

I am a mixed medium artist who combines a mixture of materials together through juxtaposition that is inspired by my spiritual beliefs and my children's insight of play pretend. While autism influenced my dolls representing how in differ a child may feel who are not Nero typical.

Instinct is a key aspect of my work, working on impulse and automatism Using my unconscious through mediation and trance to help me gain an insight of possible ideas that reflects a representation of the universes connective energies between every organism.

Building a relationship between how emotions became the soul of my art practise.

Patricia Plunkett