Acts Re-Acts, a laboratory of performance, new media, workshops, lectures, discussions, events, interventions, seminars and installations, returns for a fifth year to take place across Wimbledon College of Arts. This year Acts Re-Acts will take the form of an intensive two-day laboratory of selected performances on Thursday 1 and Friday 2 March.

On Saturday 3 March, Jozefina Komporaly will convene 'Adaptation, Participation, Risk-taking', an interactive performance workshop by Anglo-Brazilian performance company ZU-UK, followed by a symposium featuring an invited panel of academics and practitioners. This event is part of the CCW Graduate School Public Programme. Booking is essential for this workshop. Click here for further information and to book a place. An exhibition of work by participants will be on show in Wimbledon Space from 19 February – 3 March.
